

td.Basic: Terms and conditions

Prices and availability

The price is quoted and availability checked immediately online.

Booking charge

In the event of significant changes to the shipment details when using td.Basic, Lufthansa Cargo will invoice a booking charge. This fee is based on the last booking update in comparison with the initial booking; it is determined according to the higher value.

It amounts to USD 0.06/kg CWT, the minimum amount being USD 60 (or a corresponding fee in the applicable national currency).

The following are considered significant changes:

- Change to the departure and/or destination station
- The shipment is not delivered or delivered after the contracted LAT (latest acceptance time) or is cancelled
- The product, or the contracted LAT (latest acceptance time), is changed
- The chargeable weight is reduced by more than 25%

Product variants

The standard freight product td.Basic can be used both for loose freight and for built-up units. BIG, ELI, ELM, SCO, ICE and Intermediate Bulk Containers are excluded.

Transit time

Depending on the destination, the transit time is three to four days longer with td.Basic than with td.Pro.

Updating bookings

Changes to the shipment parameters after receipt of the booking confirmation or at goods acceptance may lead to a reassessment of your shipment.